

St. George's School is a state-approved, international school located in Germany. St George's is a private school and teaches the English National Curriculum (in form of IGCSE at Key Stage 4) and the IB Diploma Programme after Key Stage 4.[1] Pupils are aged between 2 and 18.

St. George's is a coeducational and non-denominational school which is run independently from local or state financial support.[2] School uniform is compulsory with the aim of improving discipline, reducing social exclusion and strengthening the identity of the school.[1] It has schools in three German cities: Cologne, Duisburg-Düsseldorf and Munich. St. George's School Cologne was the first British boarding school in Germany.
